BH3 40th ANNIVERSARY OFFICIAL PISSUP

Following discussions with His Excellency, the Grand Master, and a few Members, it is suggested that we should celebrate the 40th Anniversary of BH3 with a quiet, Official Piss-up at Bradman's Bar in Sukhumvit Soi 23 on the evening of Friday June 09 2017, from 1830 onwards.

The format will be similar to the enjoyable 30th Anniversary Unofficial Piss-up we had at the same bar 10 years ago. Beers at Happy Hour prices all night and pub food will be available, on a pay as you go basis.

Bradman's is a small, convivial single shophouse bar in Sukhumvit Soi 23, on the right about 100m from the entrance to the soi. Only alcohol and food are available, other services are of course available further down Soi 23.

All BH3 gentlemen will be welcome, and at the last count 36 had confirmed their attendance. If you have only just decided to attend you could send an email to Colin (Hema) Snow snowman.1975@gmail.com, or call: 085 225 7516.

Pictorial Depiction: Run 2082

Hard rain falls on Tambourine Man's run

The trail passes through some haunted, frightened trees

You don't need a weather man to know which way the wind blows

I'm sailing away my own true love, I'm sailing away in the morning.

I started out on Burgundy, but soon hit the harder stuff

Someone's got it in for me – they're planting stories in the press

BH3 – Run 2083– Hares: Spinning Dwarf/Jim “Bloody” Eller – Suan Sri Krung Rest Taling Chan

Well hiding didn't work out too well as Stumbles successfully accosted me in the car-park with some weird excuse that with so few members running these days he was being forced to recycle scribes, so I was duly elected to said duty for the second time in what feels like a month (but probably isn't!).

The masses had assembled, actually that's an exaggeration, a few miscreants with nothing better to do on a sunny Saturday afternoon, had assembled looking forward to a pleasant stroll in the green paradise that is Taling Chan. Proceedings were started by the good ship Vinai as His Highness the GM was apparently AWOL. The pack set off down the road on the out trail at a pace that would make a snail feel embarrassed. Eventually sanity prevailed and several members girded their loins and rapidly accelerated into a slightly faster walk.

A mixture of greenery and khlong paths was to be the order of the day...apart from the first kilometer on the main road...some good back-checks kept the pack sort of together early in the run. A false trail had the frontrunners stumped for a bit allowing the pack to lead the way. Then we hit “Bullets Bridge”, a seriously dodgy piece of construction that obviously hadn't undergone any form of pre-job risk assessment by the hares, requiring a high level of manual dexterity, a head for heights and the ability to balance on one leg while making sure the pole used to aid the crossing didn't disappear into the oozing mud below....all in all a little too much for the “nimble one” Bullet who beat a hasty retreat. However he successfully rejoined the fray later in the proceedings after a successful shortcut. The rest of the pack, with various levels of communal assistance, eventually managed to scale the obstacle but it had the effect of seriously spreading the pack which struggled to regroup.

It was around this time that a serious misdemeanour occurred - a senior member, who shall remain nameless, was spotted breaking a check...be assured that this type of behaviour will not be tolerated - he is being sent for re-education at a suitable correctional institution somewhere near Soi 23.

Following some more greenery, khlong paths and a couple of wats which suitably confused some so-called athletes, and some narrow alleys rounded off proceedings with the front runners back around the hour mark.

Back at base there was concern that the Korean visitor had been abandoned on the run but luckily he finally showed up...the question is...did he make his flight? Cutting it a bit fine was the consensus...although Snowy was more concerned about getting him to sign up as a member and collecting 500 baht for the depleting hash coffers ...and with the AGPU just round the corner every little helps!

His Holiness the GM finally made his customary late appearance and commenced the circle by awarding down-downs to some of the usual suspects... AO for not knowing how his f buddy KC was as nothing had been heard of him for a long time (cheers rang all around the circle at that point) and Bushman for some implausible story about overcharging for baking some bread.

The hares were congratulated on an excellent trail although they were accused of being environmentally unconcerned by being too liberal with the paper early on and then realizing their misdemeanour and proceeding to leave single strands for the latter part of the run when it was getting dark...perfect!

Whoremonger awarded Spinning Dwarf a celebratory libation for re-uniting him his lost sunglasses that were found at the end of the false trail.

The Senator, in his latest State of the Nation briefing, advised that the police were changing their shift patterns for the alcohol tests because they weren't catching enough people...see the Senator for the latest detailed schedule! He was also very pleased to announce the invite from the climate change sceptic "The Donald" to Gen Prayut...yep, as usual, all is good here in the Land of Smiles!

Stumbles was given a warm welcome into the ranks of the retired...I am sure he will enjoy every minute of it!

The circle closed with a group picture with the Korean visitor and his Pan Asia banner advert and for some unknown reason he attempted to bribe the GM by presenting him with a free tee-shirt which the GM was proud to wear even though it did appear to be somewhat "tight"!

Dinner was served in the welcome air-conditioning of the inside room. Two other Thai families out for a quiet tete a tete on a Saturday night were not so happy. Loud voices from certain hashers echoed around the room and across their precious plates of Thai food.

For the hashers though, a disappointingly limited selection of beer – Heineken or Singha. This pleased Snowy, but his pleasure was soon dampened when he got a rather warm Singha! Ice was asked for and ice was indeed brought in a very large bucket! No complaints there. Excellent food came and there was a good selection all round. Wine drinkers to the left, beer drinkers to the right (depending where you sat!) as the rain came down. And when it eased off it was time for most to leave. On-on to the AGPU...

Thanks to the Hare Spinning Dwarf and his (in?)-competent assistant Jim “Bloody” Eller for an excellent trail/evening!

“You go your way, and I’ll go mine.”

The sun shines bright on Bullitt Bridge

A nice stretch with no paper - after a local householder scolded the hare.

One good picture is worth a thousand words. But some might say that two words and a hyphen would be better – rip-off !!!

As this is my last HasHtrasH as On Sec, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all who gave me great support; the scribes, the photographers, and the terrible joke-mongers. With special thanks to those who did more than one write up – Mudguard, Gringo, and all of my other scribes who claimed to have already done a write-up during the dark ages before I started putting out the HasHtrasH. I have enjoyed my stint – and now have to find something else to occupy my Wednesday evenings.
